Particularly fit for sailboats and motor boats, marinas by Poralu Marine make the difference with their attractive rounded lines, well-adapted materials and colours as well as their capacity to get integrated into any site. Poralu Marine has been selected by public and private marinas, which represent today a great showcase of its skills and expertise. Given that marinas represent a critical investment for local authorities or private developers, their design has to be resistant enough and adapted to cyclone-prone areas and icing conditions.

Boardwalks and pontoons help reveal nature by providing waterfront escape. Stop for a second and have a look at the surrounding; a terrace on one side to watch birds, a bicycle path that winds between the reeds on the other side. Developing waterfront sites means first and foremost enhancing it to make it more valuable. Marina installations by Poralu Marine create new spaces which contribute to urban renewal.
